Festival time

The UK and Ireland are full of festivals. There's something for everyone: whoever you are and whatever you like, you'll find which / what / where you're looking for.

If you're in Ireland in August, for example, why not go to Kilorglin in County Kerry, where one of the country's oldest and best / more / most fascinating festivals is held. The main figure here is Puck, a wild goat caught in / by / over the local hills and brought down to the town, where he is crowned King of the Festival on the market square. A great time is had by all!

Or if you don't fancy a Goat King, how about the Laois Music Festival, near Dublin? Called Electric Picnic, it had featured / has featured / featured artists like Sex Pistols and Duffy. For Moira from Wexford "It's really what you want / wanted / will want from a festival. I'd been / I was / I've been to a lot of festivals in Ireland and Europe. This one's anything / something / nothing else. When / Since / Then the bands start playing the whole crowd is on their feet dancing."
